SUBJECT: Damascus Media Reaction: Syria/Iran, Lebanon, Iraq, Palestinian Territories (1/19)

11. Summary: Syrian papers reported that Iranian President Ahmedinejad will arrive in Damascus today for a two-day state visit to Syria and will meet President Asad and senior Syrian officials. All papers featured a statement by President Ahmadinejad on Wednesday describing relations between Iran and Syria as brotherly and strong, and saying that both countries have clear positions regarding regional issues and against foreign intervention in Middle East affairs.

Syrian papers also cited a speech by Dr. Mohammed al-Ghofari, Syrian Minister of Justice, at the opening of the General Conference of the Arab Bar Federation in Damascus, in which he said that Syria is still cooperating with the IIC investigation into the killing of former Lebanese PM Rafik Hariri and is keen to reach the full truth about the crime. Headlines also featured a statement by Ibrahim Simlali, Secretary General of the Arab Bar Federation, expressing solidarity with Syria against pressure and threats that "contradict the international charter."
All papers reported a statement by Sheikh Hassan Nasrallah, Secretary General of Hizbollah, stressing that Lebanese national interests necessitate ending any possible hostility between the Syrian and Lebanese governments and peoples. Nasrallah pointed out that the latest severe wave of political, media and psychological instigation against the Syrian government and people have a racial nature. He dismissed the possibility of a new civil war in Lebanon.

13. Editorial Block Quotes:

"Most Eloquent Answer"

Omar Jaftali, an editorialist in government-owned Tishreen, commented (1/19): "Thousands of Lebanese students demonstrated outside the US Embassy in Beirut on 17 January to protest American interference in Lebanese affairs.... This interference has taken the form of egregious positions and statements, as recently expressed by Ambassador Feltman and US Assistant State Secretary David Welch....

12. Selected Headlines:

custodianship.... The demonstration represents an eloquent response to those who accused the national resistance of treason....

"The demonstrations by youth in Beirut and Tripoli were the most prominent national topic, showing the truth of the patriotic and pan-Arab sentiments against the attempts to separate Lebanon from its Arab environment and turn it into a base for conspiracies against Syria and the region, and a station for the suspicious American-Zionist plans that seek to impose hegemony and serve Israel's interests...."

"The Okar Voice and the Mokhtara Echo"

Khalid al-Ashhab, an editorialist in government-owned Al-Thawrah, commented (1/19): "Jeffrey Feltman, US ambassador in Beirut, stated that 'it is time now for the Lebanese government to get rid of Hizbollah if it seeks Washington's full support....'

"This American position is being translated into action by Walid Jumblatt and others, who started the campaign against Hizbollah by describing Hizbollah's weapons as treacherous and accusing the party of loyalty to foreign countries....

"The Lebanese must be alert and must understand well what is being hatched against them and what maintains their power and strength, primarily their national unity and their resistance...."

"Lebanese Consciousness Will Reveal Traitors"

Isam Dari, an editorialist in government-owned Tishreen, said (1/18): "The rancorous orchestra in Lebanon has stooped to unprecedented levels in its abusive language against Syria and attacks on the Lebanese resistance.... But this campaign fully exposed this group before the Lebanese people and the Arab nation....

"This group, upon instructions from foreigners, has renounced every honorable thing in Lebanon and everything related to Arabism, so much so that it is rejecting Arab initiatives to bring accord back to Lebanon and preserve the country's national unity....

"The Lebanese people, who foiled the May 1982 agreement, will not allow revival of the agreements of humiliation and surrender and will drive off the specter of sedition and civil war, which the enemies of Lebanon and Arabism are preparing...."
